DAY #1

We went to a place called Prathuru . The event started off at a water tank land. The place was completely dirty and looked like it wasn't taken care of properly. So ,all the students with mask and gloves started cleaning off the waste and plucked off all the unnecessary plant growth. The waste was gathered outside in a heap and burnt out so that no waste would be left outside. After that two events were simultaneously started as the members were divided into two halves. One for cleaning up and rust coating the gate that looked completely rusted. Other for a survey of that area using an app{app name} regarding the facilities which they had and which they don't (such as internet connection, bathrooms, own houses, minimum wages, net banking, credit card, etc).So as the event came to an end we had an undertaken dirty looking water tank land that turned clean with the gate rust-coated and a complete facilities survey of that area.

DAY #2:

Today's event is a medical camp conducted by Anu Hospitals at the Panchayat office. The event started with a few of the team members going out to the neighbourhood area to inform people about the the camp whilst the rest of the team setting up everything from names registration to medicines. Three separate tables were laid out for medicines, name registration and RBS,BP test respectively with medical assistance where needed. A separate room for the doctor to check the patient's health condition .Slowly people started coming and by lunch time the medical camp was a success already as more and more people kept showing up and the count crossed 100.Lunch today was arranged by the NSS unit itself for the members. The event continued again after lunch and the total number of people who attended that camp was 165 members and it was a wrap at around 3:30.

DAY #3

The third day's event was a half day event .An Kobo Collect app was required to be downloaded by the team members and it contain all the options or choices that would necessary for land marking any type of sight such as any statues, temples, offices, tiffin centers , grocery shops, etc which would be useful for anyone who are new to that area ex: Tourists, surveyors, etc. So a team of two or three was assigned a street and within a very short time the event had been completed. The interaction with people there also went well and every owner happily gave the details of their respective businesses.
