Report on Heat-Related Illnesses During the Summer Season

Conducted on 18-04-2022 at Mellempudi

Objective:

Due to rising temperatures during the summer season, the objective of the event conducted on 18-04-2022 at Mellempudi was to raise awareness about heat-related illnesses. The aim was to educate community members about symptoms, prevention strategies, and the importance of staying hydrated during hot weather conditions.

Description:

During the scorching summer season, people face serious health issues such as heat strokes, dehydration, and fatigue. To address these heat-related illnesses, NSS Unit 10 from KL School of Architecture, Department of Fine Arts, and Department of Hotel Management conducted an awareness program in Mellempudi Village. Volunteers educated villagers and school children about these illnesses and distributed ORS sachets to emphasize the importance of oral rehydration.

The program, organized with support from faculty and department heads, received appreciation from village authorities and elders for its comprehensive approach. It commenced at 10:00 AM and volunteers divided into groups, visiting households to distribute ORS sachets and raise awareness among villagers, daily wage workers, farmers, and children.

This initiative was overseen by Dr. Ch. Hanumanth Rao, Dean of Student Affairs, along with Dr. K.R.S. Prasad and Dr. Habibullah Khan, who highlighted the program's role in enhancing student communication skills and overall development. The event was led by Mr. Sreedhar Patnala, Mr. Varun V, and Mr. P. Srikanth Reddy, coordinated by Mr. P. Suresh and Mr. T. Chandra Shekar from the CEA.

Outcome:

As a result of the awareness program, villagers in Mellempudi are now better informed about heat-related illnesses and the importance of oral rehydration therapy (ORS). The distribution of ORS sachets has equipped them with necessary tools to mitigate the risks associated with summer heat.

Impact on Society:

The awareness program on heat-related illnesses in Mellempudi has potentially saved lives by educating villagers, especially vulnerable groups like the elderly and children, about preventive measures and early treatment. It has fostered a community-wide understanding of the risks posed by summer heat and the importance of hydration, enhancing overall public health resilience.
